Commemorative Information

Cemetery: ISLINGTON CEMETERY, Middlesex, United Kingdom
Grave Reference/ Panel Number: Z. 16330.
Historical Information: During the two world wars, the United Kingdom became an island fortress used for training troops and launching land, sea and air operations around the globe. There are more than 170,000 Commonwealth war graves in the United Kingdom, many being those servicemen and women killed on active service, or who later succumbed to wounds. Others died in training accidents, or because of sickness or disease. The graves, many of them privately owned and marked by private memorials, will be found in more than 12,000 cemeteries and churchyards. Islington Cemetery contains 344 First World War graves and 265 from the Second World War, all scattered throughout the cemetery. A screen wall in the western part bears the names of those whose graves could not be marked individually, together with the names of two casualties from the Second World War whose remains were cremated at Islington Crematorium. The names of six First World War casualties buried in Islington Cemetery but who could not be commemorated there are included on a special memorial in adjacent St Pancras Cemetery.
